BUSINESS OF SHOW

ABOUT THE WORK

A good business owner knows every moving part of their business; how each role fits as an integral part of the system. As a creator, performer, and theater company owner it is of great importance to me not only to respect and admire every part of what makes a show, but to also have hands on experience in those roles myself: to further my knowledge, understanding & relationship with every part of the theater and creative process. My passion is storytelling and creation - experiencing all sides of the industry enhances that.
